MARCH 13, 1901 JULY 10, 1960

During twenty-four years as a teacher of American history at Indiana High School, Mr. Pound's chief concern was the building of good citizens—interested, informed, responsible graduates who would take their places in the community. As a farmer and conservationist, as a church leader, and as a worker in civic projects, he exemplified his beliefs. And his greatest rewards came in finding his former students sharing in the duties as well as in the privileges of democracy.

The Senior Class

This year the senior class presented "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," a comedy by Moliere. It was under the direction of James Nix. Mr. Nix was assisted by Richard Hesse and members of the senior class. The Senior Class Dance was held on February 11 in the high school gym. It was sponsored by the twelfth grade Tri-Hi-Y and their advisor, Miss Sara Stevenson. Approximately one-hundred couples danced to the music of the Stardusters Quintet. The theme was "Hearts and Flowers," and it was carried through in varied shades of red and pink. Mainly the decorations consisted of cupids, roses, and hearts. The queen of the dance was Carol Moorhead, a senior from 105. Chuck Sabatos crowned Carol at intermission.

presented "The Doctor in Spite of Himself."

The 1961 Junior-Senior Prom was supervised by Mr. Robert Buchanan. Bill Nichol was voted chairman of the decoration committee. Approximately forty people worked on this committee. They were chosen by Mr. Buchanan and the guidance counselors from a list of students, who were among the rush to 301 to sign up for the decoration committee. About a month before the long awaited date, committee meetings were held almost everyday during the senior high lunch period. The first job, after selecting the chairman, was to pick a theme. After much discussion, the committee finally decided on "Oriental Paradise." The committee worked long and hard hours after school to make the prom a success. The work was done in private homes and at the school. The twelfth of May finally came, and all the hard work was rewarded with one of the nicest proms the high school has ever seen. Nearly three-hundred fifty people attended the prom. The decorations were beautiful, and every couple in sight was having a wonderful time. Music for dancing was provided by the Corvairs. Entertainment during intermission was supplied by the Men of Note. This quartet consisted of Gene Thomas, Keith Bloom, Jim George, and Harry Nichol. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria under the supervision of Mrs. Thelma Gershman.

Junior-Senior Prom was Oriental Paradise.

The Seniors marched to the strains of "Pomp

The Reverend Mr. Roy C. Hoch, of the Zion Lutheran Church of Indiana, presented the baccalaureate address to the graduating class of 1961. The service was held in the high school auditorium on Sunday, June 4, at 7:30 o'clock. The scripture was read by James Nance, president of the class. Carol Bell, the class secretary, led the prayer. A group of junior girls sang the choral response under the direction of Mr. Eugene Thomas. The topic of Mr. Hoch's address was, "I Dare You." He challenged the 1961 graduating class to four ideals, each one represented by a letter in the word dare. He challenged them to differ when it meant the difference between right and wrong; to aspire to the highest ideals possible; to resist all evil; and to elevate their lives to God. The 1961 graduating class of Indiana Joint High School held their commencement exercises in the high school auditorium on Tuesday, June 6, at 8:00 o'clock. Mr. Lambert Joseph, principal, presented the seniors for graduation to Mr. Paul R. Getts, superintendent. In turn Mr. Getts presented diplomas to every graduating member of the class. The processional and recessional was played by the high school concert band under the direction of Mr. George Pollock. Robert Lepley, a member of the graduating class, gave a coronet solo. James Nance, president of the class of 1961, delivered the invocation. The commencement address was given by Mr. Philip Geary. His subject was, "Let's Fall in Love." To illustrate his idea, he used three Greek Words that have a different meaning of love. They were eras, meaning human love; philia, having to do with a personal friendship; and agape, meaning divine love. He pointed out that agape, or divine love, was the most important. With divine love the world could be united.

The juniors proved one of the most active classes in the school. The 11-A English class published a booklet of poetry, "Pecks at Poetry," with a cover design by Wally Gorell. Susie Seaton, Susie Smith, Kaye Stewart, Norm Eppley, Connie Elkin, and Bonni Harper represented the Tri-Hi-Y at a conference in Kittanning. For the first year senior class officers were elected in the junior year. Jerry Collins was chosen president; Jim Moore, vice president; Carol King, secretary; and Bob Anderson, treasurer. Susie Smith was elected president of Student Council in a thrilling contest. The eleventh grade journalism students relieved the seniors of their positions for the special April Fool's edition of the "Broken Arrow." Four of the five starting positions on the varsity basketball team were held by juniors Barry McKnight, Dave McNaughton, John Darr, and Ted Deyo. Ted Deyo also served as president of the Chess Club and was undefeated in interscholastic competition. Jerry Collins and Judy McGregor were named to replace the graduating Indian and squaw, Sandy Miller and Bill Nichol. Many juniors anxiously awaited the results of the college board tests they took on May 20. Barry McKnight was elected Lieutenant Governor of the District Key Club. Norm Eppley attended the State Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y convention and was selected state president. The eleventh graders worked hard this year, but also managed to have lots of fun at dances, parties, and anything else they did.

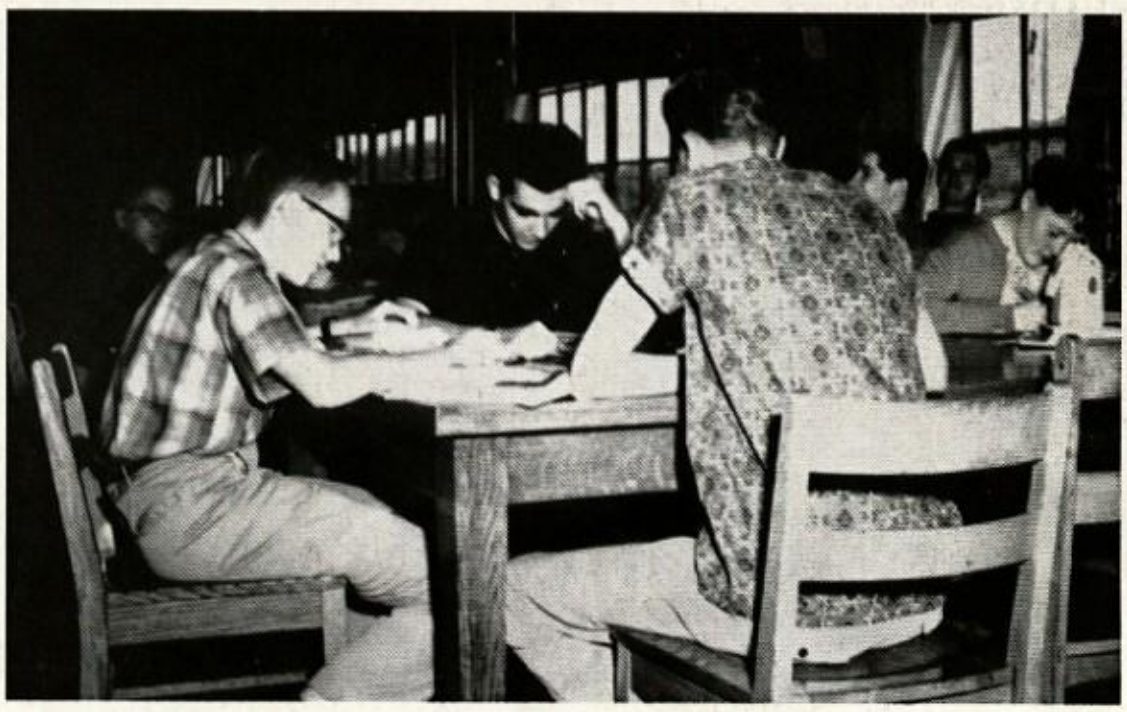
School life certainly wouldn't have been complete without the tenth graders. They played an active role in sports, academic activities, and the extra-curricular program. A sophomore dance was held for the first time this year. Mrs. DeGaetano's Tri-Hi-Y sponsored the dance, "Dream by Candlelight," which turned out to be one of the most beautiful and successful dances of the year. Latin classes made reports on books about Roman life as part of their research themes. The Tri-Hi-Y sent Ginger Feather, Sandy Kaylor, Vicki Shields, and Sally Fritz to the Older Girls' Conference held in Kittanning. Bev Scott, Sally Fritz, Gerry Gaydosh, and Mary Beth O'Hara were pleased to be announced new varsity cheerleaders. Lois Brady and Mary Ann Buchanan were also very thrilled when they were chosen as majorettes. Mary Beth Hughes was elected senior high vice president of Student Council.

Some sophomores took the Speed Reading course offered at Indiana State College. George Robeson participated in the Joe Berg Science Seminar. The Tri-Hi-Y made Raggedy Ann dolls as a service project. Ben Gerideau, Ken Holliday, and George Clemens performed with the Cavalcades, a rock and roll band, in the talent assembly. Many tenth graders were seen at the Shamrock Shuffle, Senior Class Dance, and the Junior-Senior Prom. The accelerated math classes took Algebra II. Rod Roddy and Dick Drury, disc jockeys from KQV Radio in Pittsburgh, visited the Senior Broadcasting Club this year to which many tenth graders belong. Margi Brody portrayed a lady in the Sendracs play, "Madwoman of Chaillot." Brenda Brothers served as co-chairman of the Girls' Athletic Association's first annual Playday.



Education, the chief goal of our school, is better achieved through the library sources available.

The ninth graders were kept busy writing research themes for science and Latin classes, taking Spanish and Latin tests, the National Education Development Test, and the preference test. The students also participated in many extra-curricular activities. Vernon Steele, Bob Deyo, Ken Brown, and John Smith were selected for the Joe Berg Science Seminar program. Many students became members of the Junior National Honor Society. Two new cheerleaders, Kathy Kumorek and Linda Williamson, were chosen from the ninth grade. Dr. Lawrence and Rev. Abrams were guests of the Tri-Hi-Y. Ray Buggy and Harold Sekerak played varsity baseball this spring. A. J. Kendrick was the top scorer on the junior high basketball team. Charlie Kuzneski beat out many senior high boys for a berth on the varsity wrestling squad and won his first match at the district finals. Gene Rayko was presented with a trip to Akron when he won the Soap Box Derby. Roseann Nastase and Steve Patrick got the American Legion awards.

Many useful school tools were able to be purchased at the Student Council store.

This year's seventh graders contributed to many school, social, and civic activities. The Tri-Hi-Y gave baskets of food to needy families living in Indiana, collected money for cancer and the library on tag days, and sent their new officers to the Grove City training program. The Hi-Y went to the Y.M.C.A. playday and also sent many baskets of food to the poor on Christmas, Easter, and Thanksgiving. The Junior Youth Club collected funds for furnishing the recreation room. Isabel Farabaugh placed first in the physical fitness test with six hundred and thirty points. The seventh and eighth grade football team beat St. Bernard's. Room 311 became the champs of intramural girls' deck tennis. Intramural wrestling played a large part in the sports program for the boys. Altogether the "Littlest Indians" made a very successful debut into high school life.

School policies are formed

The KEY CLUB of Indiana High School maintained another active year. After attending the Kiwanis meetings, the club conducted one themselves. Key Club Night, which featured games between the majorettes and cheerleaders, the faculty and Key Club, was a huge success. They performed a service to the school by running a Courtesy Campaign. Chuck Sabatos attended a state Key Club convention. Officers were president, Chuck Sabatos; vice president, John Darr; secretary, Rod Ruddock; treasurer, Bill Spadafora; and Bill Kuzneski, chaplain.

By serving as the governing body of the school, the STUDENT COUNCIL directs the various activities of the students. All the homerooms are represented at the meetings which are usually held every Tuesday. A talent show, Homecoming, Student Election Assemblies, Welfare Chest Drive, Student Council Store, and the Policy Committee are among several of the activities which Student Council has sponsored.

Honor Societies bring prestige to our school.

The SENIOR NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY is an honorary club in which many deserving students participate. All members are chosen by a faculty committee on the basis of scholarship, leadership, sportsmanship, and character. After the new members were inducted, the entire group climaxed the year with a picnic at Seph Mack.

This newly organized club, JUNIOR NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY, recognizes the outstanding scholastic and leadership ability of gifted students. It presents a worthy example to other students as an honorable achievement. New members recently chosen by the faculty were announced at the Awards Assembly in May of 1961.

The HIGH ARROW dedicates itself to equal the high traditions of the Senior Press: freedom of expression, with a special intent to encourage greater spiritual and moral achievement within our school and community. Projects include the sales of football programs, underclass pictures, namecards, Mock Presidential Election, Sr. Class Personality Election, field trip to Pittsburgh Press, distribution of Scho-Roto Magazine with each copy of the High Arrow.

Some members of the newspaper staff are tabulating the votes cast by the student body for the Mock Presidential Election. The results were kept secret until the last issue of the High Arrow in November. The results showed that Richard Nixon won.

The band, cheerleaders, and majorettes boost

Indiana Joint High School students were very proud of their SENIOR MARCHING BAND this year. Excellent halftime shows were presented at football games, and the musicians always looked good in parades. Representatives were sent to District Band and State Band in Everett. The peppy strutters of Indiana Joint High School always looked good whether they were performing at a football game, marching in a parade, or a pep assembly. The girls also held cupcake sales and helped collect money for the Cancer Society. Dottie Hamilton served as captain; Bonni Harper, co-captain, and Susie Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Varsity "I" encourages good sportsmanship.

The VARSITY "I" CLUB is mainly a service club with the primary service to athletics. Only those boys who received letters for sports were eligible to become members. This club presented its senior athletes with red and black jackets at the awards assembly. It also awarded red blazers to the graduating cheerleaders. They also held Varsity "I" letters.

The chief money making project of the year was Varsity "I" Night which was held in the late fall.

Indiana invited the surrounding county schools to participate in many sports such as volleyball, bowling, shuffleboard, badminton and other activities including "jacks", darts, marbles, and pool. The representatives from each school and their advisors were divided into teams and asked to select their captains. Since the theme of the playday was "Sea Hunt", the teams were entitled Starfish, Angelfish, Sharkfish, Octapi, and Sailfish. After competing in all the sports entries, the girls were served refreshments in the school's cafeteria. The winner, Carol Bell and her teammates, were awarded small turtles. The chairman and the co-chairman of this playday were Larue Bracken and Brenda Brothers.

Hard work for Varsity Football squad

Coach Farabaugh's 1960 FOOTBALL squad won 4 games, lost 4, and tied one. Although the record is not very impressive, this year's team was a fine one. The backfield sported senior quarterback Bill Spadafora, senior fullback Jim Nance, juniors Dave McNaughton and Barry McKnight at the halfback positions, and sophomore speedster Tim Wilt. The line was plagued with numerous injuries and therefore didn't function quite up to par.

Most experts would agree that the team had a fine group of boys. We beat Leechburg, Northern Cambria, Punxsutawney, and a tough Conemaugh Township team. We were beaten by DuBois, a hard and fast Windber squad, Blairsville, our last game with them, and the Conference Champions, Ebensburg. The Junior Varsiay team turned in a fine 4-1-1 record which promises much for next year. The Junior High team turned in another good record of 4-2.

This year's BASKETBALL squad, coached by Walter Stapleton, had after a season full of strong teams, compiled a fine winning record of 14 wins and 11 losses. The boys who were Coach Stapleton's mainstays on the varsity squad were seniors Bill Spadafora and Bill Nichol, and juniors John Darr, Dave McNaughton, Barry McKnight, and Ted Deyo. These six men were switched from position to position during the season and more than enough times they presented a winning combination of scoring, rebounding, passing, dribbling, and fortitude. The Junior Varsity and Junior High teams turned in excellent records.

Wrestling guarantees the fans excitement

Wrestling coach Sam Lengel's fine squad posted another winning record this year of 6 wins and 4 losses. Chuck McCreary in the 127 lb. class and Jim Nance both compiled undefeated records of 9-0-0 and 10-0-0 respectively. The grapplers from Indiana earned 260 points for the season while holding the opposition to 203 points. The team opened the season with an 18-28 loss to DuBois, came back and won 5 straight matches before dropping the next three to Johnstown, Latrobe, and Curwensville. They finished up a successful year with a fine 32-11 win over Conemaugh Township.

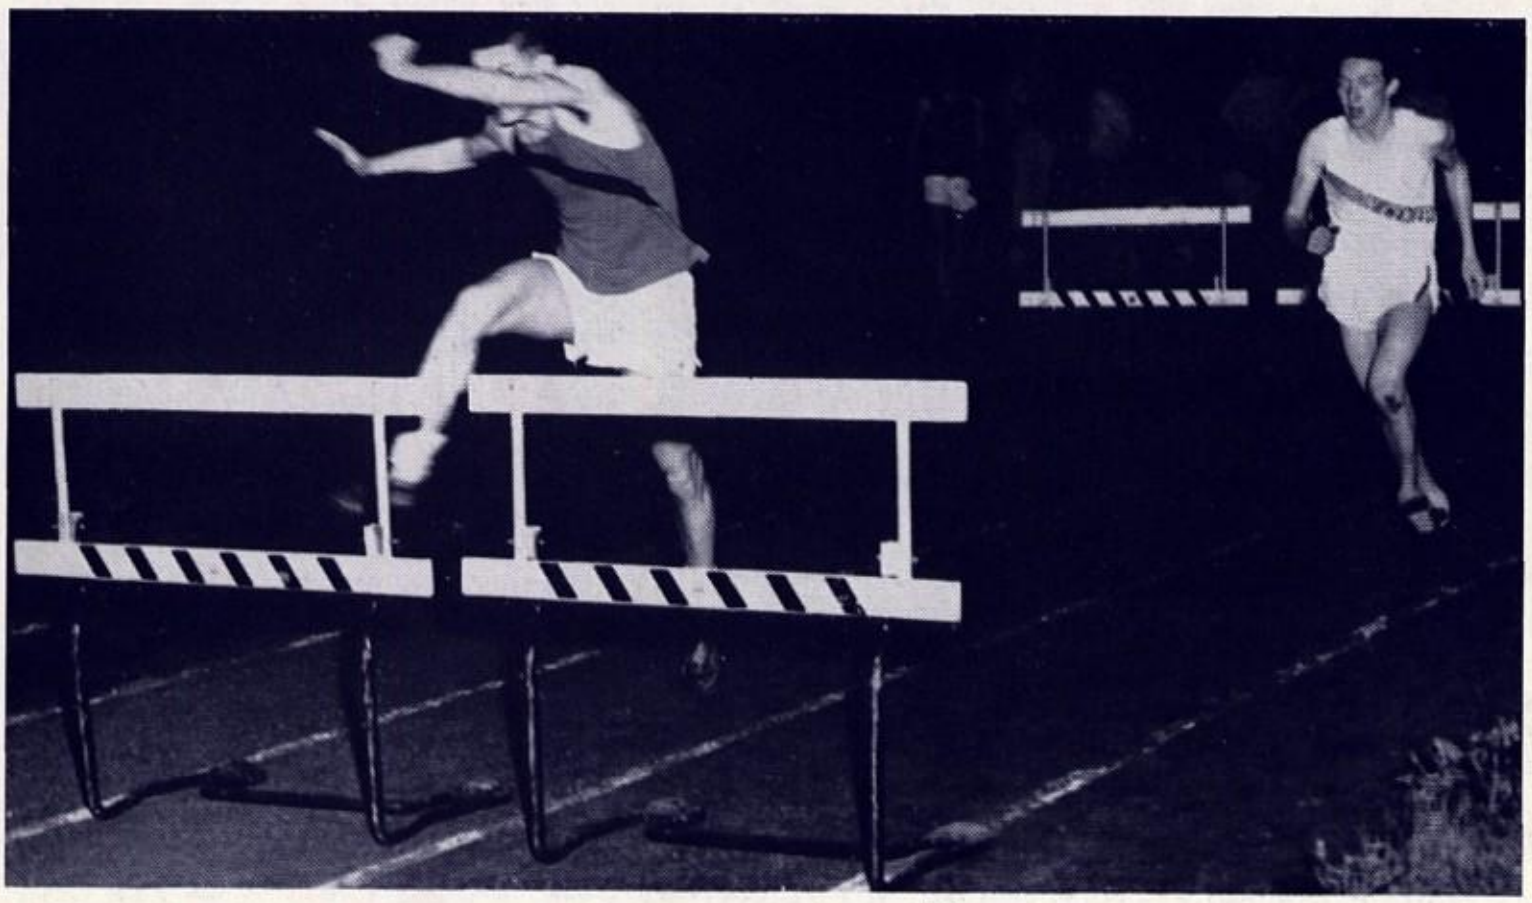
The Junior High turns in an impressive record.

This year's ten returning lettermen formed the nucleus of a very good squad for track coach John Kurtz. The team had an exceptional collection of runners and fine boys in the field. Jim Nance in the shot put, Dave Hoffmaster in the 880, and Joe Tocci in the mile run, set new school records. Assistant John Selkirk developed an undefeated junior high squad. This year we had nine boys in the District and five in the state track meet. We also did well in Juniata.



Senior trackster Chuck Sabatos leads by a comfortable margin in the high hurdle event.

In 1961, as in 1960, baseball could be aptly described as a "rainy" game. The team, although they could play no games on their home field, and were forced to play either away or on the unfamiliar college field, brought home a record of 4-6-1 for mentor Ken Davis. The lack of adequate practice and game facilities was a serious detriment to the formation of a coordinated squad.

THE 1960-61 SCHOOL TERM held many memories. For some it was the beginning, for others the end of their days at Indiana Joint High School: the football games, won and lost, basketball, wrestling, track, and baseball, various club conferences attended, assemblies presented to the student body, the election of class officers, and next year's student council officers, awards and achievements of outstanding students, the Senior Class Play and the Senior Class Dance, record hops and the Junior-Senior Prom, pictures taken for the yearbook, the club picnics, Commencement and Baccalaureate, these will be remembered by the students of 1960-1961.
